

CV Noora Ronkainen

Dr Noora Ronkainen is an Assistant Professor at the University of Bern. Her research areas include identity in sport, meaningfulness, athletic career development, existential learning and qualitative research methodology. After completing her PhD at Aarhus University, she held post-doctoral research positions at Shanghai Jiao Tong University and Liverpool John Moores University, followed by a Marie Skłodowska-Curie Fellowship hosted by University of Jyväskylä. She has co-authored the book Meaning and Spirituality in Sport and Exercise: Psychological Perspectives with Dr Mark Nesti. Her research is mainly situated in psychology of sport, with intersections to sociology and philosophy of sport.